Pilgrim's Progress
written by Kris Kristofferson
3/7/06

INTRO: D

CHORUS:
```
D                          G         A    D
Am I young enough to believe in revolution
                                  G      A       D
Am I strong enough to get down on my knees and pray
                              G         A    D
And am I high enough on the chain of evolution
                             G                D
To respect myself and my brother and my sister
                            G     A      D
And perfect myself in my own peculiar way

      D            G           D
I get lazy and forget my obligations
                          E                  A
I'd go crazy if I paid attention all the time
           D                    G                  D
And I want justice but I'll settle for some mercy
                                 G   A       D
On this Holy Road through the Universal Mind
```

CHORUS

(KEY CHANGE)

```
      E            A             E
I got lucky I got everything I wanted
                        F#                 B
I got happy there was nothin' else to do
           E              A                E
And I'd be crazy not to wonder if I'm worthy
                               A           B         E
Of the part I play in this dream that's comin' true
```

CHORUS:
```
   E                        A       B   E
Am I young enough to believe in revolution
                                  A      B         E
Am I strong enough to get down on my knees and pray
                               A        B    E
And am I high enough on the chain of evolution
                              A              E
To respect myself and my brother and my sister
                              A    B         E
And perfect myself in my own peculiar way
```